About Writing Club

Our writing program empowers students to become skilled communicators and creative storytellers. Each class features a “word of the day,” a focused grammar lesson, and time to write and develop stories. Students learn to organize ideas, use descriptive language, and express themselves with clarity.

Our winter and spring sessions introduce new writing styles—such as persuasive, expository, and personal narrative—so returning students encounter fresh content and keep growing without repetition.

Instructor Bio

Priyanka Raha is the Founder and Chief Learning Coach at PopSmart Academy, an institution she created to spark curiosity and ignite a lifelong love of learning. At the academy, she teaches science, public speaking, and writing, blending confidence-building with personalized instruction. Her students have thrived under her guidance—earning recognition as National Science Bowl champions and winning multiple writing and science competition awards.

As a TEDx coach, Priyanka played a key role in organizing TEDx Youth in Seattle. She holds an MBA from Purdue University and is widely sought after as a keynote speaker and writer. Beyond the academy, Priyanka is an active member of the local community. She is deeply committed to empowering the next generation of innovators, thinkers, and creators—and to shaping a brighter future through education.

Help Make Writing Club Possible

Our clubs depend on parent volunteers. Volunteering is simple—help with student check-in and check-out and stay during class. You’re welcome to bring your laptop and work while you’re there. No special experience required. Sign up to Volunteer
